Power Plant Thermodynamic Performance Monitoring National Energy Efficiency Conference September 2012 . Agenda • Performance Monitoring Objective ... • Complete quantification of all streams in a power plant eg flue gas, cooling water, steam and fuel flows

Power Plant Thermodynamic Performance Monitoring

Power Plant Performance Monitoring Using Statistical Methodology ... The paper sets out problems experienced in current power plant performance calculation methodology. With changes in the electricity market and the increased role of computer control and diagnostic system, the previous methodology is fast becoming obsolete. Several key factors ...

Power Plant Performance Monitoring Using Statistical

Power plant performance monitoring continuously tracks the difference between observed (measured values or calculated values from heat balance) behavior and expected behavior. Advanced pattern recognition is the most flexible and accurate technology for prediction of the expected values of performance parameters.
