Metaphysics (Greek: Μεταφυσικά; Latin: Metaphysica) is one of the principal works of Aristotle and the first major work of the branch of philosophy with the same name. The principal subject is "being qua being," or being insofar as it is being. It examines what can be asserted about any being insofar as it is and not because of any special qualities it has.

Metaphysics (Aristotle) - Wikipedia

Metaphysics (Aristotle) is a philosophical work by Aristotle, one of the principal works of the branch of philosophy with the same name. The principal subject is "being qua being," or being insofar as it is being. It examines what can be asserted about any being insofar as it is and not because of any special qualities it has. The work is divided into 14 books, with the first book (Book I) containing the famous opening sentence: "We must begin somewhere." The work is a systematic treatment of the principles of being and knowledge, and is considered one of the most important works of Western philosophy.
